“When A Student Passes Away”

This workshop is intended to provide information and encourage discussion about teaching, advising, and personal challenges faculty and staff face when a student passes away. Some topics which we will discuss are: the emergency protocols; how to respond in and out of the classroom; the spectrum of survivor responses; and how to deal with spiritual questions. The following panelists will lead the discussion:

Cheryl Carpenter-Siegel, Assistant Professor of Sociology

Jay Fostner, Vice President of Mission and Heritage

Kurt Weber, Director of the Counseling Center

Julie Massey, Director of the Program of Faith, Learning, and Vocation and Campus Ministry

There will be ample time for faculty participants to share concerns and experiences, and ask questions.
