Spotlight On Scholarship

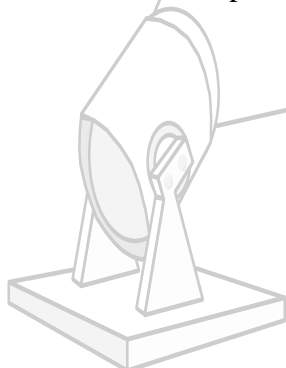

Throughout the year we will host a series of presentations to recognize professional achievement in scholarship and to celebrate the rich diversity and talents of our colleagues.

This Spotlight on Scholarship features

Bonnie McVey
Assistant Professor of Computer Science

“Welcoming All to Computer Science”

Historically, few women have pursued degrees in Computer Science and Bonnie McVey has experienced this from both sides of the classroom. The desire to encourage young women to pursue careers in this dynamic and fascinating field has led Bonnie down several varied paths. Her presentation will focus on why few women pursue computer science, changes to the computer science curriculum, pedagogy that positively impacts male and female students, and how the SNC Computer Science discipline is incorporating some of these ideas.
