“Advising as Teaching”

Traditionally considered a service activity under the "prescriptive advising" model, academic advising has been defined in recent scholarship as a teaching and learning endeavor. At St. Norbert, advising is closely tied to the College's instructional mission, clearly sets student roles and responsibilities for learning, and sees advisors as teachers in the academic-advising relationship. Come find out about academic advising as teaching in action.

Mr. Jeff Ritter, Director of Academic Advisement and First-Year Initiatives, and Associate Professor of Business Administration

There will be ample time for questions.
