GMAT, GRE, MCAT, LSAT! Confused by the alphabet soup of graduate and professional school entrance exams? Unable to adequately explain the tests to your own advisees? Then join us for a presentation by your colleagues regarding the content, process, and administration of this important first step toward admission to post-graduate educational programs. You will learn the substance of each exam, when they are offered, how they are scored, the availability for pre-testing tutoring, and the influence of the exams on the admissions process.

The following panelists will lead the discussion:

Matt Stollack, Assistant Professor of Business Administration
(GMAT)

John Pennington, Professor of English (GRE)

Charley Jacobs, Assistant Professor of Political Science (LSAT)

Cyndi Ochsner, Assistant Professor of Chemistry (MCAT)

Mandy Nycz, Assistant Director of Career Services (Logistical Support)

There will be ample time for participants to share concerns and experiences, as well as ask questions.
