

Study abroad

Eye-opening. Perspective-broadening. Life-changing.

Study abroad is all of those things and more. It will thrill you. It will test you. It will reward you. And it will teach you a remarkable amount about the world — and about yourself.

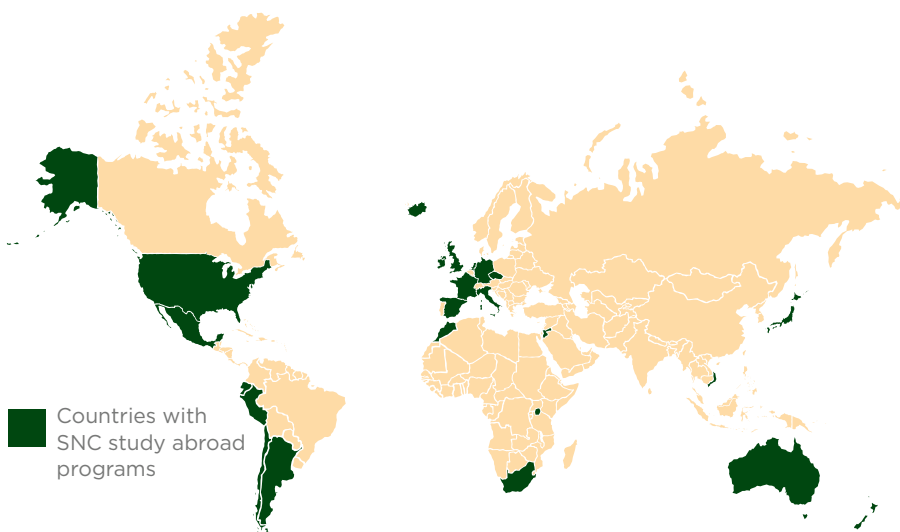

More than 30 percent of St. Norbert students study abroad. Every one of them will tell you that it was one of the most important experiences of their lives.

Where can you go?

St. Norbert offers experiences through some 70 programs across 30 different countries. From Australia to Argentina, the U.K. to Uganda, and so many more destinations, you have nearly boundless opportunities to explore the world. (If you're looking for something a little closer to home, we also offer domestic programs in places like Washington, D.C.)

What can you do?

Study public health in Chile. Finance in London. Art in Florence. Intercultural communication in Australia. Imagine you ... there ... doing that!

Many of our study-abroad students are able to combine academics with internships, working in international corporations, government organizations and nonprofits. Others integrate service-learning into their travel. Still others, research.

And of course, outside the classroom or the office, a world of opportunity awaits for you to explore local culture, connect with people, discover wonders old and new.

Will your scholarships apply?

In a word ... yes. Your financial aid may be applied to one semester of off-campus study. No matter which semester-long program you choose, you will be charged tuition at the current St. Norbert College rate. The same for housing and meal plans, if they're included in your program.

Something shorter?

Not all study abroad takes a semester! We also offer global seminars and other programs during school breaks.
