RENT & SAVE

Rental books cost less than new books. Use it. Highlight in it. Write in it. Return it.

What are the book rental rules?

- Create a book rental profile and provide some personal info. and a credit card as collateral – we will charge you for the book if you don't return it.
- You can highlight and take notes in rented books, but unreasonable wear or damage means you'll have to buy it at term end.
- Rentals are due the last day of finals and can be returned in person or mailed in to the store

HINT:

Pre-register your book rental account to get through the checkout line faster at FollettRental.com/0473

BOOK RENTAL CYCLE

Select rental-eligible books

Use it to learn!

Keep your rental through exams

At term-end, return to the bookstore:

Fall Due Date is: Tuesday 12/8/2020

USED

Same book, better price, previously owned and eco-friendly. Reduce, reuse and read used.

- Used is a great value.
- You own the used book. Take notes in it, highlight every word, take it in the bath with you. But keep it in good shape if you want to sell it back to us later.
- The store works hard to find as many used copies as possible from many sources including buying back from students at term end – look for the USED sticker.

DIGITAL

Access your textbooks anytime, anywhere, on any device.
Convenient and often saves you money.

Should you buy the digital or physical book?

- The required and recommended materials for your course will specify if there is a digital version available.
- If there are both physical and digital versions available, it is your choice of which to use.

ADDITIONAL ACCESS CODES

Sometimes the physical book has more content available online.

THREE MAIN TYPES OF DIGITAL BOOKS

The most basic digital book is just a PDF of the physical printed book. This is comparable to reading on an Amazon Kindle, there is little or no interactivity with the material.

Some digital books have enhanced, interactive sections to help you learn about specific topics.

Finally, more advanced digital books are more like a website of subject matter where a user chooses different paths.
