

St. Norbert College
President's Report
2008-09

A special place A special year

We are privileged to build on the fine work of so many dedicated people who have served before us. Examples of their stewardship are evident everywhere you turn on campus. More great things await us.

After an enjoyable first year, President Tom Kunkel now finds himself where he belongs – at home at St. Norbert.

There's nothing quite like the sensation of being a freshman on a college campus – that palpitating mixture of excitement, adventure, hope, cluelessness, anxiety and naked fear. It had been three-and-a-half decades since I'd experienced those feelings, but sure enough they all came flooding back last summer when I arrived for duty at St. Norbert College.

However, I am happy to report that, just as occurred back in 1973 when I was a new student navigating the University of Evansville, about halfway through freshman year an amazing thing happens. Your legs suddenly stop wobbling, your head stops pounding, your vision sharpens up – and you find you're actually enjoying yourself.

And then ... sophomore year! Is there a better feeling anywhere? Newbie no more, you actually know where all your classes are. Faces and names go together. You've figured out the best times to get to the cafeteria. You come back and find that you're, well, home.

So it is that Deb and I are feeling quite at home as we plunge into our sophomore year at St. Norbert, and we again send out our thanks to all of you for the numberless ways you've reached out to us, from shopping tips to gifts of baked bread and homemade jam. That big support group includes you, our alums; our faculty and staff, who work so hard to make this campus the special place it is; the Norbertines, who are not only dedicated men of God but also faithful (not to mention colorful!) friends; and of course, our students, who are the reason we all come together in the first place.

Then there are our donors, to whom this issue is dedicated and whose names appear on the following pages. Thank you, thank you, thank you.

And I certainly don't want to overlook our trustees, who show their passion for St. Norbert College with their time, their counsel, their experience and, in so many cases, their treasure.

For the past six years, the trustees have been led by Patrick Kelly, a '77 alum and internationally respected businessman. I have also found Pat to be an astute observer of the human condition and a bona fide force of nature. I'm quite fortunate to have had Pat as both a mentor and friend, and his wisdom made my freshman year infinitely easier. If you think a moment about everything that has

Financial year Q & A

President Tom Kunkel speaks to the questions on everyone's mind since the economy took a downturn last fall

What has the tough economy meant to the college's financial health?

St. Norbert College has been well and conservatively run for many years, and that discipline has helped us navigate a down economy. While other schools were retrenching, we have been able to continue the momentum with fine new buildings, programs and academic partnerships with such institutions as Marquette University and Michigan Tech.

After the economic downturn of last fall, we made sure that, first of all, our students were well served, our staff and faculty remained intact and our academic program remained solid. We did have to hold pay raises for one year.

We were especially pleased that despite the economy, donations this year increased significantly. Those gifts were not all large in dollar amount. But they were large in number, which is considered an important quality indicator for an institution. As a tuition-dependent college, it is imperative that our annual fund secures the resources to help our students succeed.

What impact has the economy had on the college's endowment?

At the height of the stock market, in the fall of 2007, our endowment hit its peak at $75 million. As was true for all colleges and universities, the downturn took a big bite out of our endowment. It hit $46 million at its low point. With the recent recovery in the equity markets, the endowment now stands around $57 million.

There's one irony to note: Because we were never in position occurred at St. Norbert since he took over, you begin to appreciate what his leadership has meant to us all. You can read more about Pat on page 5 of this issue, and when you see him please offer him a thanks of your own.

We are most fortunate that another veteran trustee, Bill Auriemma, also a '77 alum, is following his friend Pat as our new chair. Bill, too, is a highly successful businessman and entrepreneur who somehow makes time in his demanding schedule for his alma mater. With Bill at the helm, more great things await us.

Indeed, the trustees and the administration are privileged to build on the fine work of so many dedicated people who have served before us. Examples of their stewardship are evident everywhere you turn on campus.

We recently dedicated the wonderful new Miriam B. and James J. Mulva Library, and it already is a huge hit with students, faculty and the wider De Pere community. If you haven't seen it, by all means come by, get some coffee at Ed's Café, pull down a book and settle into one of the countless inviting reading spaces situated around the light-filled building.

Just down Third Street, Gries Hall is teeming with happy new students. Meanwhile, over at the old Todd Wehr library, workers are busy dramatically renovating that space for what will be its third campus incarnation. The renovation will be done in March, and among Todd Wehr Hall's new features is our relocated bookstore. In addition to being more convenient for students, alums and visitors, the store will offer a broader array of products for purchase, making it easy for you to show your Green Knight pride.

Before long you'll also be seeing progress on the new Donald Schneider Stadium and Athletics Complex. We've raised nearly $9 million in cash and pledges for the stadium so far. While we have several million more to raise, we remain optimistic about dedicating this wonderful new multi-use athletics complex in time for the fall 2010 football opener – it will be played against St. Thomas University.

Of course, equally important if less tangible developments are occurring all over campus. We are fully enrolled for fall, despite the still-wobbly economy. We are putting into place a challenging new Honors Program for our highest-achieving students. We are investing new rigor and challenges into our general education curriculum. And impressive new faculty already are settling into their classrooms.

So I can say with confidence that my sophomore year is going to be an exciting one. But don't just take my word for it. Come back to campus and see for yourself!

– Thomas Kunkel, President of St. Norbert College

to become overly reliant on endowment spending, as some better-heeled institutions were, our budget was less jarred by the hard times when they hit.

Was enrollment affected?

We went into the 2008-09 year with strong enrollment. When the downturn hit last fall, we made a concerted effort to let our students know that, if their families were in financial straits, we wanted them to talk to us rather than quietly opt to leave. Dozens of them did seek us out to work through their financial challenges so that they could stay. We also redoubled our recruiting efforts for the current year and made available more financial aid than ever.

This combination of retention and recruiting efforts has paid off in this fall's record enrollment. And there was a sizeable increase in top academic scholars among our first-year students.

However, we have also seen a 7 percent increase in those students demonstrating serious financial need. Even now we have students come to us whose parents have lost their jobs. So we continue to be diligent in our outreach.

How does this position us for the future?

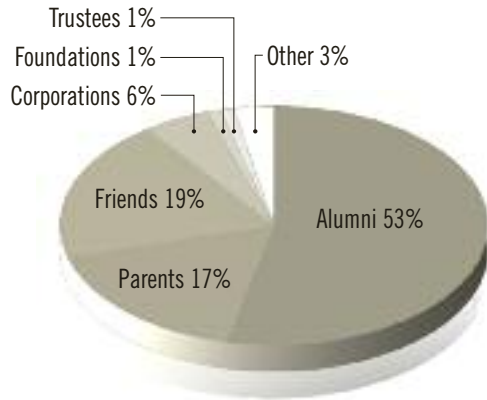

We must continue to be good stewards of our resources. We are constantly working to improve the educational experience even as we hold tuition increases to a minimum. Our aim is to make sure that no qualified student rules out St. Norbert for fear of cost.

To do all this, we look to the ongoing support of alumni and friends – for which we are, as ever, more grateful than we can say.

People who believe in St. Norbert College have always been ready to contribute to its future, prompting our deepest gratitude. Financial support comes from many sources, and every gift makes a difference to current and future students.

The year in pictures

“The pursuit of excellence” was the motto under which St. Norbert College ushered in its seventh president, and it characterized a year in which we saw two new buildings near completion; lead gifts for the athletics stadium; two national titles in track; and the announcement of a new master’s program. 2008-09 Honor Roll of Donors

The 1898 Society

A new and vital society, established this financial year, recognizes those whose support is fueling the momentum that is taking St. Norbert College to new standards of excellence.

The 1898 Society honors in its name the year of the founding of St. Norbert College. The college's achievements over the past 111 years and its vision for continued growth are both testimony to the ongoing generosity of the friends whose gifts, large and small, make all possible.

All who gave to the college in 2008-09 have become founding members of the society, a means of recognizing those who give annually to St. Norbert College, who make a major gift to the college, or who indicate their support through a planned gift by remembering the college in their will.

Current giving, lifetime giving and planned giving are recognized by membership at various levels within the 1898 Society. These guilds and clubs honor the leadership, dedication and extraordinary philanthropy that encourages excellence in our students, faculty and staff; expands the college's academic programs; and provides for the maintenance and construction of essential facilities. (Class participation rates in this honor roll reflect the percentage of living alumni who gave to the college during the 2008-09 financial year.)

Additional information about the 1898 Society is available at www.snc.edu/go/1898society.

An Honor Roll of Donors is maintained online at www.snc.edu/advancement/annualreport.html.
