Assets are meant to reflect a snapshot on the date you first complete your initial FAFSA and should not be updated even if they change or fluctuate in value.

Our office received a revised FAFSA which shows that you updated the value of your parent cash, savings and checking account balances on the FAFSA. Assets cannot be updated at a later date unless they were inaccurately reported on your initial FAFSA application. Therefore, please complete the following and return to the Office of Financial Aid.

PARENT(S) CASH SAVINGS AND CHECKING ACCOUNT VALUE:

1. Parent(s) cash, savings and checking account value:

- Was correctly reported on my initial 2019 – 2020 FAFSA application and should not have been updated. Please update my FAFSA to reflect the value of my parent(s) cash, savings and checking account balances reported on my initial FAFSA application.
- Was incorrectly reported on my initial 2019 – 2020 FAFSA application. Therefore, my parent(s) updated my FAFSA to reflect the correct value of their cash, savings and checking account balances that should have been reported on the date of my initial 2019-2020 FAFSA. Explanation required (i.e. erroneously added an extra zero.):

WARNING: If you purposely give false or misleading information, you may be fined, sent to prison, or both.
