

ST. NORBERT COLLEGE GRANT DEVELOPMENT REPORT

OCTOBER - DECEMBER 2013 | ISSUE EIGHT | PAGE ONE

NOTES FROM SARAH

I hope everyone had an excellent, relaxing winter break and your semester is off to a great start. Before we know it, it will be spring. The final three months of 2013 were productive for grant seeking and 2014 is shaping up to be another great year. I already have 13 faculty and staff members signed up for the 2014 Summer Grants Workshop and a variety of grant proposals in the works. A few more things on the horizon for the Office of Grant Development:

- The Undergraduate Research Forum (formerly Celebration of Student and Faculty/Staff Collaboration) will be held April, 1st in the Mulva Studio, look for applications soon
- I have begun planning a workshop focused on a specific federal funder. If you have any requests please let me know.
- I'm developing the second strategic plan for the Office based on the College's strategic plan as well as my own goals and priorities. Look for it on my website.
- I will be hosting a meeting for regional grants professionals here in April. I believe this will lead to and facilitate collaboration between our faculty and faculty at UWGB, Lawrence, and other area institutions.

Grants submitted by SNC faculty and staff through the Office of Grant Development in 2013. Here's hoping 2014 is even more successful!

Becky McKean, Assistant Professor of Geology, submitted a proposal to the American Philosophical Society's Franklin Research Grant program for funding for travel to conduct research in Arizona.

Karen Park, Assistant Professor of Religious Studies, submitted a proposal to the Louisville Institute's Sabbatical Grant for Researchers program for her research on Marian devotional sites.

Stephen Rupsch, Assistant Professor of Theatre Studies, received funding from the Greater Green Bay Community Foundation Fund for Greater Green Bay for Running North: The Green Bay Project collaborative theatre performances and workshops.

Shan Bryan-Hanson, Curator of Art Galleries and Collections, received $6,000 from the National Endowment for the Humanities Preservation Assistance Grant for Smaller Institutions to conduct a preservation assessment of the College's collections.

Please congratulate your colleagues on their grant seeking activity. Grant seeking is an important form of scholarship. It enriches the campus as a whole and allows faculty and staff to do research and operate programs that would be impossible without external support.

Compliance Corner:

St. Norbert College's Institutional Review Board (IRB) is a committee that has been formally designated to approve, monitor, and review biomedical and behavioral research involving humans. This includes research conducted by faculty as well as students. Their primary goal is to protect human subjects from physical or psychological harm. Any faculty, staff or student conducting research involving human subjects or private information obtained about individuals must apply for IRB approval although some research may be exempt from review and other research posing minimal risk may be subject to expedited review. Ray Zurawski is chair of SNC's IRB board. Have questions? Ask Grant Development!
