

Call for Proposals: St. Norbert College's Inaugural Symposium on Gender-Based Violence October 24 – 28, 2022

Symposium Overview

In partnership with the Cassandra Voss Center, Mulva Library, Title IX and Compliance office, and VAWA grant initiative, the St. Norbert College campus community is invited to participate in the 2022 inaugural symposium on gender-based violence. This symposium will highlight research on topics of sexual assault, gender-based harassment, dating/domestic violence, and stalking, including education, prevention, and outreach efforts. Research shared will help move the St. Norbert College campus community forward in tackling these difficult topics in an evidence-based, systematic manner.

While we welcome all proposals surrounding faculty, staff, and student research on gender-based violence, we are specifically focused on topics related to violence eradication on college campuses and evidence-based practices.

Submitting a Proposal

We are seeking a variety of presentation proposals through different media, including poster projects, 30-60 minute presentations, and breakout discussions.

To propose a session, we ask that you submit this Google form to highlight your presentation proposal. We will be most interested in understanding your mode of presentation and the information that you plan to present. Your proposals will help us to build the structure for this event!

Timeline

- Proposal submissions will be accepted through August 22, 2022.
- Presenter applicants will be notified about the status of their submission no later than September 2, 2022.
- A full schedule of symposium events will be shared with the St. Norbert College campus community no later than September 15, 2022.

Questions?

Have questions about applying or generally about the symposium? Please email titleix@snc.edu for further information.